

Publication of Enduring Quality Nominations

Due Date

- March 1

Eligibility

- Nominees must be current members of the CAES.
- Peer nominations are typical, but self-nominations will be considered.

Criteria

- Publication (article, book, chapter, in the CJAE or elsewhere) that has had a significant impact on agricultural, environmental or resource economics in Canada and has been available for 10 years or more.

Rules

- Nominations may be made by any member of the society.
- Nominations must consist of the author(s), reference of publication and short nomination statement (maximum of one single-spaced page) describing the publication's contributions to the profession.
- Be as specific as possible when describing the enduring nature of the article and its overall contribution (e.g., shaped policy, new empirical methodology, unique data set, etc.)
- Unsuccessful nominations may be re-documented and resubmitted in a subsequent year.

Selection

- The CAES Awards committee selects one or two winners from among the nominations, according to the guidelines outlined in the CAES Policy and Procedures Manual.

Where to Submit

- Email nominations to Valerie Johnson, CAES Executive Director, valerie@caes-scae.ca
