2026 CAES-SCAÉ Annual Meeting

Lord Elgin Hotel, Ottawa

June 3-5, 2026

CANADIAN AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS SOCIETY
SOCIÉTÉ CANADIENNE D'AGROÉCONOMIE

WELCOME!

Welcome to the 2026 CAES Annual Meeting in Ottawa! I'm very excited to welcome you to the nation's capital for an exciting schedule of events, speakers, symposia, and paper sessions. On Wednesday evening we have a welcome reception at the Lord Elgin hotel, followed by two very full days of activities. On Thursday, we start things off with this year's keynote speaker, Dr. Jill Hobbs from the University of Saskatchewan. The day also includes our annual business meeting (after the days' concurrent sessions have concluded), our presidential address delivered by Peter Slade, and the CAES awards banquet. Friday features the Fellow's Address by Dr. Bruno Larue from Université Laval. Scattered throughout the two days are many sessions sharing papers and research on pertinent issues to the agriculture sector. I hope that you enjoy the program and your time in Ottawa!

Warren Goodlet, CAES President

GENERAL INFORMATION

Registration

Main Lobby

- Wednesday, June 3, 5:00 PM - 6:30 PM
- Thursday, June 4, 8:00 AM - 12:00 PM

Name Badges

Pick up at the registration table during hours shown above. Badges (registrants and guests) must be worn to access all events and sessions.

Welcome Reception

The Welcome Reception is included as part of your registration fee. Attendees and guests must wear their name badges to enter. The reception will take place in the St. Laurent Room.

Banquet and Awards Ceremony

The Banquet and Awards Ceremony is included as part of your registration fee. Attendees and guests must wear their name badges to enter. The banquet will take place in the Pearson Room.

Information for presenters

Moderators will arrange for a laptop to be present, but presenters are encouraged to bring their own laptops in case of technical issues. It is your responsibility to ensure that your session moderator has your slides before the session begins. You are encouraged to arrive to your session ten to fifteen minutes in advance.

Information for moderators

Your primary responsibility is to facilitate presentations. The moderator is responsible for keeping presentations to the allotted time and encouraging questions to facilitate a discussion after each presentation. Please bring a laptop and ensure that the slides for each presentation are loaded and prepared in advance. You are encouraged to arrive to your session ten to fifteen minutes in advance.

Food affordability and supply chain resilience in turbulent times

Jill Hobbs, University of Saskatchewan

Canada remains a major agri-food exporter, yet food affordability has become a top-of-mind issue for many Canadians. Food affordability is driven by food prices, household incomes, and (for some communities) access and availability. Drivers of food price inflation and sources of vulnerability are discussed. Supply chains are facing disruptions on multiple fronts due to geopolitical uncertainty, climate and weather shocks, transportation and logistics bottlenecks. How do we define supply chain resilience in a Canadian context, what makes supply chains more (less) resilient, and what factors currently threaten resiliency? What key policy implications arise and how can agricultural economists contribute to the debate?

Break | Pause

10:00 AM - 10:30 AM Main Lobby

Concurrent Sessions

10:30 AM - 12:00 PM

Focus on Fellows

Pearson Room

Organizer and Moderator: Alan Ker, Michigan State University

Tariffs, Tariff Responses and Flawed Trade and Domestic Institutions

Bruno Larue, Université Laval

The standard economics of trade agreements and trade wars are being challenged by current events. Long standing regional and multilateral institutions meant to curb opportunistic behavior appear powerless. I will discuss tariff settings when governments pursue different objectives and constraints, including constraints imposed by domestic institutions.

The effect of Ontario's Greenbelt Policy on Farmland Prices in the Whitebelt and the Greenbelt.

Brady Deaton, University of Guelph

In this presentation, I provide preliminary insights from my research, with Edwidge Tia, on the effects of the 2005 Greenbelt Policy on farmland in both Greenbelt and Whitebelt areas. I will discuss the controversial issue of how the boundary was drawn and the potential effects of this consideration on our results.

Distributional Inference: Moments versus Quantiles

Alan Ker, Michigan State University

It is becoming more prevalent in the literature to make distributional inferences from moment based regressions. We illustrate that upper moment changes (i.e. skewness, kurtosis, etc.) are not monotonic with respect to mass shifts thus severely complicating distributional inferences from moment based regressions. We contrast this with distributional inferences made from quantile regressions.

Selected Paper Session: Crop Acreage Response and Farmer Production Decisions

International Trade Models in 2026: Results, Assumptions and Data

Bruno Larue, Université Laval

I review key results from international trade models commonly used to make inferences about the pattern and the volume of trade and the gains from trade. I argue that some popular results ought to be downplayed while new insights can be gained from using more realistic assumptions. I question the transfer of assumptions suitable for 1-sector and 2-sector trade models to sectoral trade models, the kind mainly used in agricultural economics. I also discuss theoretical and empirical issues in trade policy analysis, including data issues.

BIOGRAPHIES

Keynote Address: Jill Hobbs, University of Saskatchewan

Dr. Jill E. Hobbs is a Distinguished Professor in the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics at the University of Saskatchewan. Her research encompasses agri-food supply chains, consumer behaviour, and food policy. Recent research has focused on supply chain resilience in the agri-food sector, sustainability labelling and certification in food markets, and international regulation of gene-edited agri-foods. Dr. Hobbs earned her Ph.D. from the University of Aberdeen. She holds an M.A. in Economics from the University of Calgary and a B.Sc. (Econ) from Aberystwyth University. Dr. Hobbs was appointed a Fellow of the Canadian Agricultural Economics Society in 2017 and an Honorary Life Member of the International Association of Agricultural Economists in 2024.

Fellow's Address: Bruno Larue, Université Laval

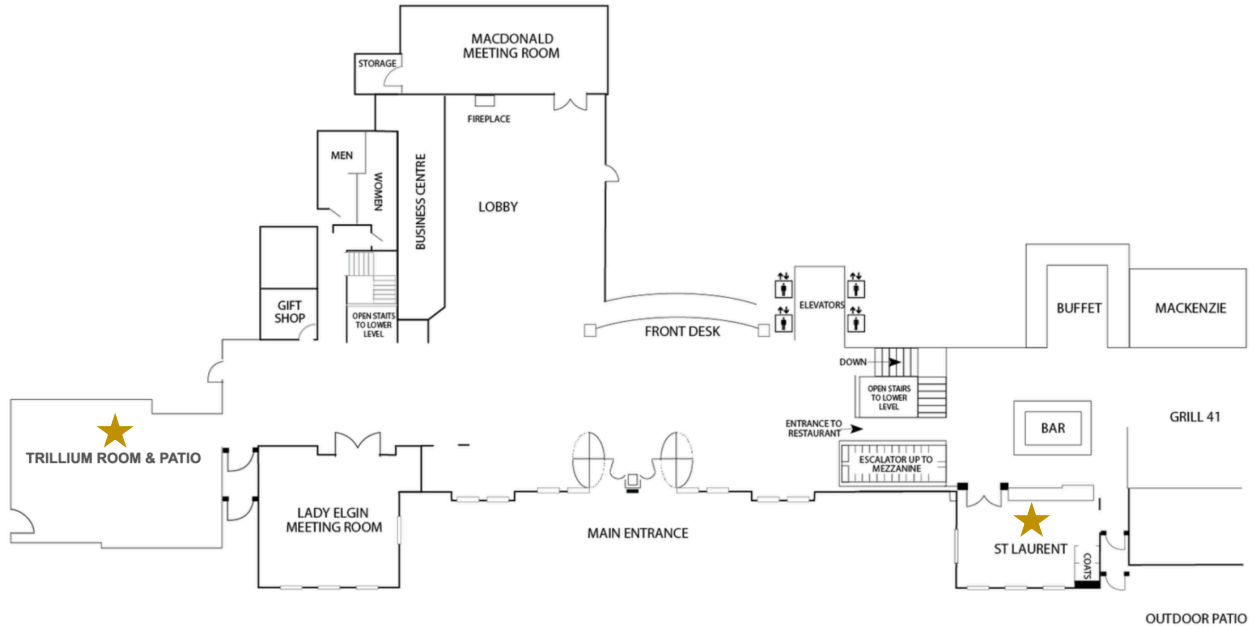

My mother, my father and my wife grew up on a farm, but I was born on "asphalt" on the south shore of Montreal. I completed my undergraduate degree at Macdonald College (McGill U) in 1983, skipped the Master's degree but got married to the beautiful Gale Ellen West in 1984 before getting my PhD from the department of Economics at Iowa State University in 1988 at the age of 26. Academia has been my life. I held a Tier 1 Canada Research Chair in International Agri-food Trade for 14 years. I was the founding director of the Center for Research on the economics of the Environment, Agri-food, Transports and Energy (CREATE), a centre made up of agricultural economists, economists and political scientists at Laval University. I served as CAES president, CJAE editor and editorial board member of the CJAE and Agribusiness. I am also a long-time, often disappointed, fan of the Arsenal football club and of the Montreal Canadians hockey club.
